(1) Many *explorers have lists of places they want to see ( A ) they die. A place near the top of many explorers' lists is the Wave in *Arizona, United States. People who have been there say, "It's not like any other place ( B ) Earth."

(2) The Wave is a *sandstone *rock formation ( C ) northern Arizona near the border with *Utah. The sandstone has been there for many millions of years ( D ) the time of the dinosaurs. Over the years, water and wind have formed *wave-shaped lines in the rocks. There are two major formations. One is about 36 meters long, and the other is about 16 meters long. You have to hike for about 5 kilometers to get there. There are no guide signs, so you ( ① ) use a *compass or *GPS to find it.

(3) ②Over the years [ amazingly beautiful / the area / made / the natural changes / have ]. "It looks like a painting," said one Internet magazine. There are long, curved lines all over the deep brown rocks. When it rains, pools of water form between the rocks. The water in the pools is perfectly clear and it reflects the rocks like a ( ③ ). There are even dinosaur *tracks in the area.

(4) Many people want to see the Wave, but not everyone can go there. The state of Arizona wants to protect the rocks because they are very delicate. Only 20 hikers are allowed to walk around the area each day. You have to *apply for a *permit in advance. Ten people can receive permits four months before the hiking day on the Internet. Ten more are chosen in a *lottery on the day before the hike. In 2017 about 160,000 people applied, but only 7,300 got permits. It is easy to get lost *on the trail, and it can be dangerous. In the summer the temperature reaches over 40°C. But if you have the chance, you can enjoy a peaceful and unique experience.

[3] 次の英文を読んで、あとの問いに答えなさい。なお、文章の左にある(1)~(3)は段落の番号を表しています。

- (1) When you are sleepy or tired, you open your mouth wide and breathe in deeply; yes, you yawn. Scientists have studied why yawning happens, but, actually, no one knows why we yawn. Though yawning still has a lot of mysteries, there are many interesting findings about yawning. Let me tell you about some of them.
- (2) Yawning is ①contagious. It is passed from person to person. When you look at another person's yawning face (especially his or her eyes), you may yawn. Some scientists watched more than 100 people over a year to discover why people "yawn back." They found that people did it if the first yawner was someone important to them. People yawned back most often if the first yawner was ( a ). The next most often "yawn backs" happened after ( b ) yawned. Finally, people didn't yawn back often if ( c ) yawned. Also if the first yawner is someone close to you, such as a family member or a friend, you quickly yawn back. But if a stranger yawns, it takes some time until you yawn back. In other words, it takes you ( d ) time to catch your friends' yawns than strangers' yawns.
- (3) Yawns have many ( e ). ②But one thing you can be sure of is that you don't yawn only because you are tired or sleepy. Yawns are sometimes used for communication. If a person yawns soon after you yawn — it is because they love you!

問1 下線部①contagiousの意味を、その次の文を参考にして日本語で答えなさい。

問2 科学者たちが1年以上にわたって100人以上の人を観察した目的は何ですか。日本語で答えなさい。

People living alone will make up nearly 40 percent of all households in Japan by 2040, a national research institute *projected January 12th, as more people *delay marriage *amid a rise in *divorces.

*The National Institute of Population and Social Security Research also projected that in the same year, 44.2 percent of households will be *headed by people aged 65 or older, up from 36 percent in 2015.

The share of single-person households, already the largest at 34.5 percent as of 2015, is expected to grow further to 39.3 percent by 2040. Meanwhile, households with married couples and children, which at one time *accounted for over 40 percent of the total, are projected to slip to 23.3 percent from 26.9 percent.

The total number of households is seen falling to 50.76 million by 2040 from 52.33 million as of 2015.

Following the release of the projections, social security experts said Japan needs to develop an improved *social security structure to support seniors living alone.

- [6] 次の会話の場面と対話文を読んで、(1)~(4)の空所に入る文としてふさわしいものを次のア~ウからそれぞれ選び、記号で答えなさい。

会話の場面

母親と兄の John, 弟の Tom が新年の抱負(resolution)について話し合っています。

- Tom : I will make sure I study for more than two hours a day. That is my resolution for this year. I *have made teachers upset. Another is to get better scores on my tests. The high school entrance exam is coming up soon.
- John : What, Tom? Studying for more than two hours a day is usual in the time before the entrance exam. It's something that you have to do. However, I agree on your resolution about scores. I should *focus on that, too. By the way, mine is to find a girlfriend. My friend is with someone and he looks happier and more active than before.
- Mother : John, I think you're too young for that! You can find someone special after you enter university. Let me tell you about my goal for this year. I'm going to *organize the kitchen. It's been disorganized *for ages, and when that is done, I will put more effort into being healthy.
- Tom : That's a good one, Mom. I must clean my *messy room, too. But what do you mean about being healthy? You're already slim and don't have to lose weight.
- Mother : That's not what I meant. In an organized kitchen I can make the whole family healthier food. You know how much meat we eat, especially on weekends. We often eat too much steak, and it's bad for us! I should put more vegetables on our menu. I might even try some cooking classes to learn some new healthy recipes. Or maybe I can just buy some books and follow them.

*have made teachers upset 先生方をやきもきさせてきた、怒らせてきた      *focus on ~ ~に集中する      *organize 整頓する
*for ages しばらくの間、長年      *messy 散らかった

- (1) John doesn't agree with Tom's study time resolution because [                  ].
- ア Tom has already studied that long since last year
  - イ studying for more than two hours every day is normal before an entrance examination
  - ウ it's difficult to focus on classes at school after staying up late studying at home
- (2) The mother disagrees with John's resolution because [                  ].
- ア entering high school is more important for John now
  - イ Tom always talks with his girlfriend, and he doesn't study hard
  - ウ John is not old enough to find someone to date
- (3) One of the parts of the mother's resolution is [                  ].
- ア giving her kids no meat on weekends
  - イ cooking more fish in the organized kitchen
  - ウ using more vegetables for dishes
- (4) Both Tom and his mother decide to [                  ].
- ア organize things around them more
  - イ lose weight and stay healthy
  - ウ buy many more books to learn about cooking
